

ATTEND THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE & TRAINING EVENT FOR CREDIT-Austin 2021

CEA is pleased to announce a professional development opportunity for members who attend the 2021 CEA Annual Conference and Training Event 2021 and wish to earn professional development credit. CEA has partnered with Ashland University (Ashland Ohio) to make both continuing education certificate (1 CEU) and graduate education credit (1 semester hour) available for CEA members who attend the conference and complete the required assignments for this professional development option. Ashland University is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) and graduate education workshop credit earned from this opportunity may be recognized by other universities and colleges.

Formal registration requirements for earning graduate credit will be explained at the pre-conference seminar meeting to be held on Monday morning at the conference. General requirements for earning credit will include: 1) attendance to all conference sessions approved to participant's conference plan and 2) completion of a lesson plan implementing a teaching strategy/content that was presented at the CEA Conference.
