Trailblazing the Way – And That’s a Wrap!

Tracie Hightower, CEA Region 6 Director

Thank you to all who attended the 77th CEA International Conference and Training Event in beautiful Portland, Oregon. Trailblazing the Way was the theme for the conference and the title was well deserved since Portland hasn’t hosted a CEA event in over 20 years. The conference was planned by the Region VI board with help from the national board members, Region V, and Region VII. The event drew over 330 participants and 52 exhibitors. The first night kicked off with the President’s Reception honoring current CEA President Heather Gay and recognized those facilities completing the three-year CEA Standards Accreditation.

On Monday the conference got underway with Oregon DOC’s color guard and a wonderful rendition of the national anthem by Adriane Fajnor. The Acting Director of the Oregon Department of Corrections, Heidi Steward, welcomed attendees and thanked them for the work they do. Daryl Byers-Robinson, the conference keynote speaker, did an amazing job and left many in tears with his inspiring words.

The Teacher of the Year Celebration on Tuesday night was at the REDD in Portland where many showed up in western attire. Four local food trucks offered great tasting food from tamales to Asian fusion tacos and burritos as well as homemade smores, which had everyone smiling. It was a wonderful night of laughing, dancing, and eating.

During the two and a half days of the conference, attendees were provided with many great workshops, exhibitors, and opportunities to network and discuss best practices. The conference was a huge success and hope you will attend the Forum in Addison, Texas, April 7-9, 2024, as well as the 78th CEA International Conference and Training Event in Columbus, Ohio, July 28-31, 2024.

2023 Teacher of the Year Recipients

Region 1 Teacher of the Year- Tania Smith

Tania Smith began her professional teaching career in 1998 as an instructor at Cove Prep in Torrance Pennsylvania where she provided education to adjudicated youth. She left education for one year, and upon returning in 2015, has served as an ABE instructor, mentor, and acting Education Guidance Counselor at SCI-Pine Grove (PNG).

Ms. Smith believes all students are capable of learning and have something to contribute to the classroom. She maintains a positive attitude, sets high expectations for students, and holds an open mind to the needs of all stakeholders. Her goal as an educator is to provide students with the materials, means, and environment for each student to realize his fullest potential. Ms. Smith strives that the dedication, perseverance, hard work, and encouraging attitude she models in the Education Department will transfer to her students.

Tania Smith earned a bachelor's degree in Secondary Mathematics from the Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 1994 and a Master's Equivalency in 2017. She enjoys family time, her dogs (Jax and Ranger), walking, hiking, fishing, hunting, traveling, and involving herself in organizations supporting Veterans and at-risk children. Ms. Smith lives to the fullest and vows to never stop learning and trying new things as life is short and we are not promised a tomorrow.

Region 3 Teacher of the Year- Lori Koenig

Lori Koenig has spent the past 25 years teaching adults. She has taught at two medium security institutions in Wisconsin and is currently an instructor at Chippewa Valley Correctional Treatment Facility in Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin. Ms. Koenig describes her current classroom as a drop-in learning center teaching GED subjects, as well as health, Civics and Employability Skills.

Ms. Koenig's passion is to find new ways to use technology to help students understand and learn. She has created over 70 interactive modules with the Snowflake software used on Clevertouch, and shares these modules, which can easily be used by anyone. Ms. Koenig strongly believes technology can open doors for the struggling learner.

Ms. Koenig holds a bachelor's degree in education from the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh and a master's degree in education from the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse. She has taken additional classes in financial education, grant writing, TEFL, and part of the COABE Advocate Fellowship program in 2021, where she learned the art of lobbying for educational improvement and funding. One of her hobbies is to explore Internet resources that can be used to develop new tools. She is currently working to design interactive e-books to teach vocabulary and working with a developer to build a mathematical application that would help students learn numeracy.
Region 6 Teacher of the Year - Ashley Olivas

Ashley Olivas has been working with disabled people in various capacities for over 12 years and it has become a deep-rooted passion. She is currently the special education and 504 coordinator working with female and non-binary youth between the ages of 11-24 at the Linn County Juvenile Detention Center in the state of Oregon. The Detention Center is part of the Multnomah Education Service District.

Ms. Olivas believes all people deserve a chance to pursue a fulfilling life for oneself and the community regardless of barriers and challenges encountered. Her working approach with students is to understand their culture, socioeconomic background, strengths, and areas of challenge. Ms. Olivas' goal is to always involve families and rely on open communication regarding these pieces.

Community is extremely important to Ms. Olivas, which she integrates into her work. Ms. Olivas is a proud second-generation Filipina American and a first-generation high school and college graduate. She strives to be a role model and create pathways for her five younger siblings. Outside of work, Ms. Olivas enjoys travel, music, art, cooking, reading, writing, yoga, and collaging.

Region 7 Teacher of the Year - Linda Hessong-Eiler

Linda Hessong-Eiler just began her 18th year as a state Teacher 1 at the Buena Vista Correctional Complex in Buena Vista, Colorado. The Complex houses 1200 adult male persons in four different custody levels: minimum restrictive, medium custody, close custody, and protective custody. Ms. Hessong-Eiler has taught at all custody levels with the primary subject GED preparation. She also teaches English language acquisition classes, cognitive education programs, and community college courses. Prior to her position in corrections, Ms. Hessong-Eiler taught Kg-12 and adult immigrants for 14 years.

Ms. Hessong-Eiler's success as a teacher comes from her rapport with the students. She shows respect to her students and believes in them even when they are ready to give up. Ms. Hessong-Eiler has contributed to hundreds of incarcerated men acquiring behavioral and academic tools to become positive and productive citizens as they return to their communities.

Ms. Hessong-Eiler's is the mother of six children, 17 grandchildren, a dog mom, and a wife of 46 years. "Teaching in corrections is a balance of looking for the best in people who need someone to believe in them and often don't have the social skills to portray that when they have committed criminal mistakes. It isn't always easy, but I love it!"

Lifetime Achievement Award

Dr. Susan Mc Kee

Dr. Susan Mc Kee has made corrections education a way of life. She has contributed to improving correctional education services through innovation, consistent work that has demonstrated improvements in programs, raising the level of professionalism within the field, refining existing professionalism in the education community at large. She has held the title of Teacher, Counselor, Supervisor, Manager, Aide, Administrator, and many other positions which involved education as its primary duty. Dr. Mc Kee has been a CEA Regional Director, and Conference Chair.

In making this nomination, it is important to appreciate that Dr. Mc Kee has met and exceeded the requirement of this award. She has been instrumental in correctional education, been a member of CEA for over 33 years, served in multiple leadership and support positions within the Association, and created awareness in the greater correctional and public community of the benefits of correctional education. These are really the requirement of this award and Dr. Mc Kee has met them.

In the early 1990s, Dr. Mc Kee joined the Correctional Education Association because of her interest in correctional education. Her entire career, spanning 33 years has been dedicated to continued leadership and service to CEA and Education. She provided teaching, testing, training, consulting, providing teachers support. Dr. Mc Kee has been devoted to helping students who were failing in school and in life to find themselves, give hope, and have success. She has made this happen, in part, by developing and delivering tools for teachers to reach and teach more students.

Dr. Mc Kee assumed the leadership role of regional director for region VIII (Southeast) after years of dormancy. Then again after another downturn, she returned for 3 more terms to build region VIII back to its present status: a full regional board, collaborating with GA DOC to provide regional conferences, growth in membership, new state chapters, and culminating with a national conference held in Tampa this past August.

While serving as regional director and being on the national board, she developed the first long range strategic plan along with John Palan; created the monthly meetings for regional directors; started the Lunch and Learn series; worked on several marketing ideas; represented CEA at state conferences and began the Governor’s Handbook for regional directors and state presidents. She served on the finance, marketing, membership, and other committees at the national level.

Correctional Education Advocate Award

Deb Arthur

Deb Arthur has worked hard to bring college courses to our female facility by writing grants. She has advocated for services through Portland State University and to bring more to the prison. Also, she advocated for the hiring of an individual to come in and support our adults in custody and now to have an actual director over prison education. She has also advocated and assisted in building a support system on campus for formerly incarcerated individuals. She also started OCHEP, Oregon Coalition of Higher Education in Prison.

Deb works side by side with the Education administrator for the Department of Corrections.

As stated previously Deb single handedly wrote grants and gained funding to bring college classes to our female facility. She has also advocated with Portland State University to grow the program knowing that the Pell Grant was coming back. She was able to gain one position and now has also talked them into funding a director of prison education position and moving forward the ability for Portland State University to set themselves up to be ready for the Pell Grant return. At every turn she advocates through conversations with legislators starting OCHEP (Oregon Coalition of Higher Education in Prison), bringing in communications for positive press.

Deb advocates for her students daily to make sure they have the services that they deserve and to bring in funding to assist the program. She has led a leadership group at the facility to get feedback and buy in from the students as well as gaining more information on what is needed for her students. She supports the correctional educators both from PSU and from PCC by her advocacy and how she works and communicates with all who support corrections education.

Facilities Honored for 20-Year CEA Accreditation Achievement

Connie Nealon, Standards Commission Chairperson

The CEA Standards Commission presented 20-Year Awards to 21 Correctional Education programs at the 77th International Conference and Training Event in Portland Oregon, August 22, 2023.

CEA Accreditation status is awarded to facilities that have successfully demonstrated compliance with the CEA Standards for Correctional Education Programs. These standards require that programs have comprehensive policies and procedures, qualified and well-trained staff, adequate resources, and appropriate programming focused on the needs of students and the best interests of society.

The 20-Year Certificates are a first-time recognition of these programs’ continuous attainment of CEA Accreditation status. Mike Shaffer, Principal of Adult Education Programs, West Virginia, accepted the 20-Year Award certificates for 8 West Virginia Facilities. Terri Fazio, Chief, Division of Correction Education, Pennsylvania Department of Corrections accepted 20-Year Awards for 21 Pennsylvania facilities. A 20 – Year Award was also granted to a GEO Group facility.

West Virginia and Pennsylvania correctional leaders were early partners with CEA in developing the Standards that set benchmarks of education excellence in incarcerated settings. In addition to ongoing support of quality programs, CEA educators from these states have served as Certified Accreditation Auditors and CEA Standards Commissioners.

Dr. Fran Warsing, CEA Commissioner and retired Superintendent, Office of Institutional Education Programs, West Virginia, recalls, "West Virginia began Accreditation over twenty years ago without any policies and procedures. This was the beginning of strengthening all institutional education programs in West Virginia. This past year five facilities completed Accreditation, and all received 100%. Four of these facilities received 20-Year Accreditation awards in Portland."

Pennsylvania Division Chief Fazio is the CEA Council of Directors Representative on the Standards Commission. She reports, “Pennsylvania DOC is proud to have our 23 Correctional Education Programs CEA Accredited. This national, independent evaluation of our programs is proof of the high level of programming being offered by our staff and the commitment of each in ensuring that these standards are met every day.”

A Message From Your Executive Director...

Hello CEA friends and colleagues,

Fall is harvest-time and today, let’s take a moment to reflect on what our Association has harvested over the year. A successful Forum, annual International Conference and Training Event, and monthly Lunch and Learns hosted by our Regional Directors. Updates to the national Constitution and Policy and Procedures and the development of Standard Operating Procedures for the Council of Directors. A staff handbook was created, as well as continuing to work on the Standards Commission Standard Operating Procedures. The Association welcomed new exhibitors and members and celebrated four Teachers of the Year. All these endeavors are essential but the real return every day is the dedication our members have to those incarcerated. They continue to plant the seeds in hopes of a plentiful harvest.

“Don’t judge each day by the harvest you reap but by the seeds that you plant.” Robert Louis Stevenson
